

L3C Multimedia presents the application for Ipad Strings.

Strings is the first interactive children's bookstory of the Being-Sound Suite collection.

The Spanish company L3C Multimedia (www.l3c.es) presents the application Strings. This app is part of the Being-Sound Suite collection (www.suiteson.com) and has been developed within their own production line. Being-Sound Suite is a collection of interactive storybooks for Ipad based work of artist Teresa Tomas. The collection starts with the adventures of the dog Strings, and future editions will include bird Wind and frog Percussion.

Strings is an original child bookstory within the experimental avantgarde tradition, which takes stock of the research on the relationship between art and didactics. Strings favours the child's experience of reading by integrating learning and entertainment.

Strings is a tale that unfolds in 12 interactive scenes through animation and sound inviting children to a special environment of images and music. Each stage is associated with a game that develops the theme of the narrative.

The tale tells the adventures of an extraordinary pet. Half violin, half rock guitar, Strings is a very special dog. Strings meets Big Weeper at its morning stroll. Big Weeper is a tree with branches that are made of tears that come out from its many eyes. Our hero is sad because it is attached with five ropes. It will not stop until it gets rid of them, so that it can undertake new ventures with its friends Wind and Percussion.

The 12 games that are included in this App are related to each sequence of the tale and they develop the vocabulary and the subjects that are treated in the story. This facilitates learning concepts like freedom, solidarity, companionship, empathy. This is a collection of games where the child will play music on a scale of digital strings, identify ways in nature, associate similar ways, play hide a secretary, express moods such as sad, surprised, angry or crying joker, Learn to count from 1 to 26, meet the animals and musical families, discover treasures in remote places, establish relationships between father, mother, children, brother, sisters and grandparents, birthday and blow out the candles, sing karaoke the story song or memorise characters.
